First Production of "Jane" at the Madison Equare.

"A Fair Rebel" at the Fourteenth Street-"A High Roller" at the Bilou.

Three houses will reopen their doors Monday night each with a play new to the town. " Jane," which inaugurates the season at the Madison Square Theatre, is said to be a light and breezy comedy. It has a record of over three hundred and fifty nights at the Comedy Theatre in London. The advance sale of sents indicates that there is much curiosity here to see it. Miss Johnstone Bennett will assume the title role. Others in the cast are Paul Arthur, M. C. Daly, R. F. Cotton, Willie Haines, Schnitz Edwards, Katherine Grey, Ciairette Monteath, a flery Southern girl. The principal dramatic episode of the piece is based upon Col. Rose's famous escape from Libby Prison with 100 Union officers, when pany, they cannot average to earn over 90 an opening was cut through a solid brick wall to a shed and liberty. This historical incident is made the subject of a realistic stage picture. Miss Fanny Gillette will be Claire Monteath and Edward R. Mawson, a brother of the author, Col. Mason.

"Wang" runs merrily along to a business that would be acceptable even in the height of the regular season. Goodwin and Morse's charming operatic burletta, now in the fourth month of its prosperous run, with Comedian lie Wolf Hopper and his excellent company of tun makers and singers, continues to attract large and well-pleased audiences to the Broadway theatre, with its cool rattan chairs and numerous inlets for the evening zephyra. The usual Saturday matinees have been resumed.

Mr. Richard Mansfield's season at the Garden Theatre has been resumed, with more than fair signs of satisfaction from a box-office point of view. Treasurer Gavin's books show that "Don Juan" night, Wednesday, drew more than did "Beau Brummell," the night before, while the weather conditions were the same. Mr. Mansfield, it is whispered, will produce a new play sometime next month. For a time, however, we shall have the weekly repertoire of "Don Juan," "Beau Brummell," "Prince Karl" and "A Parisian Romance."

Jules Levy and his cornet have lost none of their power, and the band, under the leadership of Nahan Franko, renders an enjoyable programme. Many of the arternoon visitors remain to witness Bolossy Kiraity's magnificent spectacle, "King Solomon," which draws thousands to the new resort in the evening.

At to-day's matinee at the Eden Musee, Master J. W. Parr, who is said to be a remarkable boy baritone singer, will be among the attractions.

Manager Amberg's season of German light open continues to draw large audiences to Terrace Garden. "Indigo" and "Die VI rzig Raeuber" will be repeated to-night,
